

EchoHome - echoing design through reuse

An e-commerce furniture website with a unique trade-in feature that lets customers exchange old furniture for new, while refurbished items are resold sustainably.

Project Idea

The goal is to design a user-friendly, visually appealing, and accessible website that addresses real user needs while applying design thinking principles. The project will cover the full design process, starting from research and ideation to wireframes, prototypes, and final high-fidelity designs. We aim to deliver a functional, well-structured, and user-centered website that demonstrates both creativity and usability.
